Matt Lewis has been an Elvis impersonator in Imperial Palace's (Elvis) in Concert show for the past 20 years.

"I don't think they will ever do away with Elvis impersonators."

—Big Elvis Pete Vallee

WHERE'S ELVIS

"Legends in Concert" at Imperial Palace, 7:30 and 10 p.m. Monday - Saturday; 7:30 p.m. Monday - Friday; 9:30 p.m. Tuesday - Saturday at Stratosphere; 7 p.m. at Sahara; 9 p.m. at Bill's Gamblin' Hall; 10 p.m. at Plantation Resort.

Legends in Concert is a one-stop entertainment shop for fans of all types. The show takes you to the Las Vegas Hilton, trips to Vegas International Hotel, later renamed the Aladdin, Road to El Dorado, and the Sahara. It's a huge network of people committed to delivering the highest quality entertainment and making sure everyone leaves with a smile.

When he was 16, he started working as an impersonator of Little Richard at the State Capital City Casino and another at the now-called "Viva Las Vegas." When he did shows in Las Vegas, he was going through this rough time in his life and it's something that he says he learned a lot from.

"Elvis was into bling. Where else but in Las Vegas does his show and costume changes, Pete "Big Elvis" Vallee explained that part of this is because the city is the perfect place for indulgence, glitz and glamour. There is a huge network of people committed to delivering the highest quality entertainment and making sure everyone leaves with a smile.

Even if people don't bust me, I did not care," said Carlini. He positions and distinction as an entertainer, he said. This led to the first impersonation when he was 12 and his father took him to a show that featured Elvis songs. Later, his father dressed him up as Elvis and Pete got in a head-to-toe disguise where he won second place. Afterwards, he started getting a lot of positive feedback on his impersonation.

Touring to create the performance and "Elvis was into bling. Where else but in Las Vegas does his show and costume changes," said Carlini.

"It's not Las Vegas if we don't have our Elvis impersonators."

—Elvis impersonator Pete Vallee

"Elvis was a man who held my hand in making me a singer and an entertainer, he said. This led to the first impersonation when he was 12 and his father took him to a show that featured Elvis songs. Later, his father dressed him up as Elvis and Pete got in a head-to-toe disguise where he won second place. Afterwards, he started getting a lot of positive feedback on his impersonation.

"Elvis was into bling. Where else but in Las Vegas does his show and costume changes," said Carlini.

"It's not Las Vegas if we don't have our Elvis impersonators."

—Elvis impersonator Pete Vallee

"Elvis was a man who held my hand in making me a singer and an entertainer, he said. This led to the first impersonation when he was 12 and his father took him to a show that featured Elvis songs. Later, his father dressed him up as Elvis and Pete got in a head-to-toe disguise where he won second place. Afterwards, he started getting a lot of positive feedback on his impersonation.

"Elvis was into bling. Where else but in Las Vegas does his show and costume changes," said Carlini.

"It's not Las Vegas if we don't have our Elvis impersonators."

—Elvis impersonator Pete Vallee